

BIOMETRICALLY ENABLED IMAGING SYSTEM

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[48] A medical imaging system including a central processing unit, a data storage unit in communication with said central processing unit, an imaging device in electrical communication with the central processing unit, and a biometric authorization unit in electrical communication with the central processing unit. A user inputs a biometric identifier into the biometric authorization unit in order to enable the medical imaging system.